Newport Beach nonprofit raises $73,000

The Newport Beach-based Orange County Community Foundation recently partnered with five local nonprofits to raise $73,000 at its Giving Day.

“With the number of older adults living in Orange County expected to increase 17% by the year 2045, it is up to the nonprofit community to provide vital resources to this growing population,” said foundation President Shelley Hoss. “For the second year, we are proud to power the Preserving Dignity Giving Day and support local organizations with similar commitments to OC’s older adults.”

The five partnering organizations included Alzheimer’s Orange County, SeniorServ, Council on Aging-Southern California, Southern California Hospice Foundation and St. Francis Home.
